Fictional document

> Fictional document — demonstration example
> This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

> Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The group of 14 is the most reassuring in appearance: the box is ticked, a document exists, and what it covers is still to be read — half an hour in all, and the useful sentences are already pulled out.

Situation	Obligations	What the agent could establish
Dated document within the period	62	A document exists and its date fits
Document with uncertain scope	14	A document exists, its scope needs reading
No document	8	Nothing

What the agent checks, and what it prepares for the human read

Check	Done?
A document is attached	Yes

Check	Done?
It carries a date	Yes
The date falls within the deadline period	Yes
The document is not another obligation's sole justification	Yes
The content establishes what the obligation requires	No

> An annual inspection report can be dated, complete, and cover a partial scope. That has to be read, and read by somebody who knows the text — not by a tool ticking a box.

What is provided for the 14

Element	Provided?	Reading time
The obligation	Yes	—
The document	Yes	—
The sentences defining its scope	Yes	~2 minutes
A conclusion on coverage	No	—

Two minutes per obligation across fourteen is half an hour. That is the cost of certainty on the group that would otherwise stay the most reassuring and the least checked.
