Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The agent does not pick the more recent source: a note may clarify a special case without replacing the general rule, and material may have been updated after the note without the file date showing it.

Source	Date	What it describes
Module 4 material	Dated	One order of steps
Procedure note	19/05/2026	Another order

The answer given since the flag

"On this point, module 4's material and the note of 19/05/2026 do not say the same thing. Here are both passages. The question has been put to [contact]; until they answer, do not rely on me for this step."

What that answer contains

Element	Provided?
Both passages, quoted	Yes
The named contact	Yes
An explicit warning not to rely on the agent	Yes
An answer	No

What it costs, and what it avoids

	Value
Learners given that answer instead of a clear one	22
Learners who could have been taught a procedure backwards	22

> The flag went to both authors together. It is the only recipient that stops each from assuming the other is current.

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
