Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. Of 2,840 files built, 176 had to be reworked by a handler because the matching of cover was incomplete — 6.2 %. The figure is published by the agent, with its cause and the correction already under way.

The cause, and it is precise

Finding	Volume	What explains it
Files reworked	176 out of 2,840 — 6.2 %	—
of which concentrated on 4 standard contracts	131	All predating 2019, existing only as scanned documents with handwritten endorsements stapled to them
What was being read	—	The standard contract, but not the endorsement that had amended it

The comparison that settles it

Group of contracts	Number	Rework rate
Contracts available in structured form	58	1.4 %
Scanned contracts with handwritten endorsements	4	The rest of the reworks

It is not the difficulty of the loss that separates the two groups, it is the state of the contract. So it is not an intelligence problem, it is a source problem — and a source problem is fixed once.

The correction already under way, and what it produced

Step	What was done	Cost	Measured effect
Document rebuild	The 4 contracts and their 61 endorsements put through the document processing agent	—	—
Review	By the department's lawyer	4 hours, once	—
On the 2 contracts already handled	—	—	Rework rate down from 6.2 % to 1.9 % in five weeks
What is left to do	The 2 remaining contracts	4 hours of the lawyer's time	The whole department's rate joins 1.4 %

> Why this figure is published rather than left aside: a rework rate reads both ways. 176 files reworked is 176 times the handler saw what the agent had not seen — which is exactly what is being bought: a file that arrives done, and a
