Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. The firm, its clients, its documents and its figures were invented; they illustrate a situation common in management consultancy and describe no real client. The order of operations is the guarantee itself, not an implementation detail: filtering after the fact would let content pass through the answer.

The order of operations on a question asked

Rank	Operation	What happens if the order is reversed
1	The requester's scope is established: their files, their sources	**—
2	The search covers that scope only	The search would read files outside the scope

Rank	Operation	What happens if the order is reversed
3	The passages retained all come from the scope	Forbidden passages would be retained then discarded — after being read
4	The answer cites those passages	The answer would have been built on what it had no right to read

The case in the exchange: a consultant assigned to Ardennes Papeterie asks for a calculation seen in the Novacim file. No Novacim passage was retrieved — not even to be discarded afterwards.

What was returned instead, and it answers the need

Element	Origin	Within the requester's scope
MET-09 v3, p. 4 — working capital calculation method	Methodology handbook	Yes
7 files that applied it to materials merchants	The requester's own files	Yes
2 files with the same seasonality profile as Ardennes	The requester's own files	Yes

The route when it really is another file's item that is needed

Action	Who grants it	Effect
Named opening of the item	The engagement director of the file concerned	The requester enters that item's scope, and the log records it
Lodging an anonymised version in the handbook	The methods team	The method becomes shared; the client file stays separated

A right does not open itself: the agent has no means of widening its own scope. That is what makes the separation defensible to the 46 clients under enhanced confidentiality.
