Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. No driver is named or measured.

#	Flag	On what	Handling
1	40 minutes lost a day in the city centre	Parking time	Observed times replacing theoretical ones
2	11 rounds outside statutory times	Round requests	Not produced, three options offered
3	2-hour window met 61% of the time	1,240 rounds	Window recomputed on real times
4	Request for a table per driver	Position records	Declined

What reaches operations already settled

The day's plan, computed within statutory driving times	What the agent produces can go out as it stands: no plan to re-check before release
Real times measured round by round	You fix the plan, not the people: location measures the round, never the person driving it
The changed round, ready, with the cut-off time beyond which it can no longer be taken	Operations decide and release it: the change goes out when they choose, without breaking an end of day already organised
The message to the driver, written, ready to go out from operations	One single voice towards the road, and operations keep control of what is said on it
The day's constraints built into the plan, with no reason to collect	The plan holds, and no personal data enters your logistics tool

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
