Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The alert threshold is chosen on five years of data rather than by convention: too sensitive a threshold moves supply for nothing, too loose a threshold lets the shortage arrive.

Why two consecutive weeks

Observation over 5 years	Value	Consequence
One-week gaps that close the following week	61 %	Alerting on them would have moved supply 31 times a year for nothing
Two-week gaps that confirm	84 out of 100	That is the useful signal
Threshold proposed	12 % over two weeks	8 %, 12 % and 15 % costed over 5 years for the choice

What four months gave

Result	Number	Measured effect
Alerts raised	6	—
Leading to an adjustment	4	2 shortages avoided, €41,000 of overstock not built
Closed by themselves	2	Reported as closed the following Monday

The two gestures prepared for every alert

Gesture	What is already built	Decision time
Top-up order	Costed, referenced supplier, lead time attached	Two minutes
Production deferral	Costed effect on the other families	Two minutes

> An alert that never closes becomes an alert people ignore. The two alerts that closed by themselves were reported as closed the very next Monday, with the measurement behind it.
