Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The agent does not conclude the reviews are fake. A legitimate review-request campaign produces exactly that profile — same period, same form, same questions.

Indicator	Usual period	02 to 05/08
Positive reviews	~2 a week	11 in 4 days
Median length	64 words	26 words
Identical structure	Rare	8 of 11

What the agent shows, without characterising

Element	Provided?
The 11 reviews	Yes
Their timestamps	Yes

Element	Provided?
Their length	Yes
The curve of the previous 6 months	Yes
A conclusion on their authenticity	No
A report to the platform	No

The question asked

"Did you launch anything around 2 August?" — if so, it is explained and there is nothing to do; if not, it is information management should have.

> It is the only useful question, and it can only be put to the company. The agent knows neither the marketing campaigns, nor the commercial operations, nor what was asked of customers at the counter.

The three things the agent will never do

What the agent rules out	Why
Write a review	It is a fake
Solicit a review in exchange for a benefit	Gets noticed, and retold
Report competitors' reviews as suspect	Turns against you every time

> Request a demo with your own documents
> This document is a fictitious example. To see the agent work on your own documents, request a demo from its page.
