Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. A year-old report must be reproducible identically, with that period's data.

Item	Kept?	What it allows
Each indicator's definition and its history	Yes	Explaining a gap between two reports
Cut-off date	Yes	Comparing the comparable
Sources and query	Yes	Reproducing the figure
Missing data and how it was counted	Yes	Not skewing an average
Successive versions of a replayed report	Yes	Explaining a replay gap
Commentary on a result	No	Describing a variation is not judging it

Missing data, counted as absent

Situation	Effect on the average
3 agencies of 34 counted as zero	Pulls it DOWN, and nobody sees it
3 agencies counted as absent	Average over 31, written beneath the figure

The replay, neither an error nor an anomaly

Moment	Result	Explanation
Report for the period closed on the 31st	Baseline	**—
Same report replayed a week later	+3 %	The data arrives afterwards

> Without both versions, nobody can explain the gap, and one of the two figures is taken for wrong.

What the agent writes, and what it does not

Wording	Produced?
"Down 12 % on the previous month"	Yes
"Lowest level in eleven months"	Yes
"Disappointing result"	No
"Good momentum"	No

A report that judges saves people from thinking, and that is exactly what it will be asked to do.

For the company to settle

Retention period for report versions: _____ years
