Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. None of the projects concerned is in alert on the dashboards.

#	Flag	On what	Recipient
1	14 slips, 71 days from the first date	2,100 tasks	Whoever arbitrated the initial plan
2	23 tasks at 90% for over six weeks	Declared progress	The task owner, once
3	29 days waiting on a third party, not marked blocked	Dependencies	Whoever holds the relationship
4	3 milestones met by moving their contents	Original composition	Whoever defined the milestone

What is upheld on every plan, and what the committee gains

Dates stay the ones that were arbitrated, and the drift from the first announced is kept	The 14 postponements and the 71 days they cost finally show: a plan is an arbitration between people, and it is fixed between them
Assignments and priorities stay the project manager's, prepared and documented	The plan stays the one the team accepted, and therefore the one it holds to
Chasers go out from the owner, with the case already written	The 29-day wait on a third party reaches whoever owns that relationship, and that is the person who gets an answer
Declared percentages are kept as declared, next to what is observed	The gap is the information: the 23 tasks at 90% for six weeks only show because nobody quietly corrected them
The measurement is on tasks and milestones, never on people	The 2,100 tasks get declared honestly, because announcing a delay costs the person announcing it nothing

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
