Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. Every event carries the exhibit that establishes it, its number and its page, and the useful passage is reproduced beneath the line. The chronology was rebuilt in one night from the 14,200 exhibits and the file mailboxes.

What the chronology is made of

Nature of events	Number	Sources
Written exchanges	142	Letters, messages, receipts
Meeting minutes	96	of which 61 countersigned
Site instructions	61	Site register
Execution documents	74	Drawings, calculations, records
Findings and surveys	63	Intervention reports
Invoicing acts	51	Invoices and credit notes

Nature of events	Number	Sources
Total	487	Each numbered, dated and sourced

What the rebuild brings out

Finding	Value	What it adds
Stretches with no document longer than 3 weeks	3	including one of 41 days at the most disputed moment
Messages recovered over that stretch	9	Absent from the binders, present in the mailboxes
Site instructions issued after start on site	14	of which 6 change the layout
Written chasers asking for the drawing to be approved	7	All dated and numbered

A dated chronology changes the nature of the technical discussion. The appointed expert receives a document whose every line can be checked in one click, and the legal department stops being the only place that knows where anything is. On the neighbouring file, the same rebuild had been billed at 38 hours by the firm.

> The chronology updates itself on every new exhibit entering the file, with no manual rework, and flags the line added along with the period concerned.

Period on which the legal department wants further detail: _____
