Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document. This mandate is not in force: it is proposed, quantified, and takes effect only once signed.

What the mandate covers, and what it leaves out

Scope	Covered	Reason
Right of access (Art. 15), identity established, no third-party data	Yes	There is no decision to take on these files
Right of access with at least one item carrying a third party	No	A redaction calls for a human ruling
Erasure (Art. 17)	No	Irreversible
Portability (Art. 20)	No	The format and the recipient are decided

Scope	Covered	Reason
Refusal, extension, notification, communication to data subjects	No	Reserved acts — no mandate can cover them

The arithmetic, over your last two months

Element	Value	Detail
Files handled	31	26 access, 3 erasures, 2 portability
Files eligible under the mandate	19	Access, identity established, no item carrying a third party
Average review time	26 minutes	Recorded over the 31 files
Time returned over two months	8 h 14	19 × 26 minutes, rounded down
Files still to be reviewed	12	The ones that call for a decision

Set against the repository's hourly basis — 35 hours a week, 151.67 hours a month — the time returned represents a little over one working day a month. The figure in hours remains the reference; the conversion illustrates it.

The four limits of the mandate

Limit	Value
Cap	Right of access only, identity established, zero item carrying a third party
Automatic stop	At the first item containing a third party, the file goes back to review
Expiry	Six months, renewed explicitly
Withdrawal	Immediate, on simple request, with no notice and no justification

This mandate does not move a legal boundary, it moves a review workload.

The reserved acts stay reserved: they are outside the mandate because they cannot be inside it.
