> Fictional document — demonstration example
> This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

> Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The pointing does not come from the name, it comes from the fineness.

| Grouping | People | Published? |
|---|---|---|
| Rare subject + small department | 3 | No |
| Rare subject + short period | 2 | No |
| Common subject + department | 1 to 4 | No |
| Common subject, no department | Over 5 | Yes |

> Three questions on a rare subject in an eleven-person department: three people have just been described, though no name ever existed.

What the rule forbids

| Publication | Allowed? |
|---|---|

| | |
|---|---|
| Statistic below five people | No |
| By department | No, below threshold |
| By fine period | No, below threshold |
| Two publishable figures combined to deduce a third | No |

What is done instead

| Solution | Groupings saved |
|---|---|
| The subject without the department | **— |
| The department without the subject | **— |
| Total made publishable again | 11 of 17 |
| Do not go out | 6 |

> The threshold of five is proposed, not settled: no source grounds it as yet, and it awaits the data controller's decision. What is held back does not vanish: the groupings kept below the threshold go for human validation, together with the rewording that would make them publishable.
