Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. A missing-document flag opens a request for regularisation, never a rejection. Both letters go out the same day, with the same deadline, the same list of documents and the same closing time — equal treatment is proved by the log.

The 6 tenders, document by document

Candidate	Candidature documents	Supporting certificates	Tender documents	State
Company A	Complete	Complete and valid	Complete	Complete
Company B	Complete	Complete and valid	Complete	Complete
Company C	Complete	Complete and valid	Complete	Complete
Company D	Complete	Complete and valid	Complete	Complete

Candidate	Candidature documents	Supporting certificates	Tender documents	State
Company E	Complete	Tax and social security compliance certificate missing	Complete	To regularise
Company F	Complete	Complete and valid	Technical bid not covering lot 2	To regularise

What the check looks at on supporting certificates

Point checked	Why it matters
Presence of the document, in whatever form it was filed	A certificate tucked at the end of a technical bid is still a certificate — reading is by content, not by file title
Validity date	This is where an expired document most easily goes unnoticed
Company name carried by the document	Consortia and declared subcontracting included
Professional qualifications where the rules require them	9 equivalent forms accepted, listed in the standard consultation rules

The two requests for regularisation

Element of the letter	Company E	Company F
Document expected	Tax and social security compliance certificate	Technical bid covering lot 2
Deadline	Identical	Identical
Closing time	Identical	Identical

The completeness check goes from 60 % to 16 % of the opening work — from 6 hours to 1 h 36. Across the 118 procurements of the year, that is 519 hours returned to the service's four officers, at unchanged headcount.
