Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. No record enters the catalogue without the approval of the head of cataloguing — and the technical account the agent reads through has no right to write.

What each prepared record carries

Field	Filled from	Status
Title, author, illustrator	Publisher reference, title page	Filled
Publisher, series, year, ISBN, pagination	Publisher reference	Filled
Four-line summary	Back cover and table of contents	Written, to be read
Subject indexing	Comparable records approved in your catalogue	Proposed — this is the expert act, and it belongs to the librarian
Shelfmark	Your 30 shelfmarking rules, written this morning	Proposed
Field not read	—	Left empty and named, never deduced

The 30 shelfmarking rules — derived from your 34,000 records

Rule observed	What it says	Records confirming it
Two-level children's shelfmarking	Reading level then genre	4,180
Series	Series shelfmark, volume number as suffix	1,640

Rule observed	What it says	Records confirming it
Local collection	Filed by municipality of the network	820
Adult non-fiction	Classification then first three letters of the author	9,300
... and 26 further rules, detailed in the full table	—	—

These rules belong to the media library: they lived in the team's heads and passed on by word of mouth. Written down, they also serve the day a member of staff arrives, and the day one leaves.

Flagged without being asked

Finding	Volume	What is prepared	Who decides
Authors present under two forms of their name	2 local-collection titles this morning, 412 in the catalogue	The merger of the two forms and the authority record that brings them together	The head of cataloguing

An authority is the single form chosen for an author's name, the one that gathers all their documents under a single entry. Without it, a reader looking for that author finds half their books.

Reading time has not been cut, and it must not be. What disappears is the typing; what remains is the only work where the media library commits its expertise.

For the media library to decide
