Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. Every discrepancy is reasoned by a document of the file itself — the declaration, the invoice, the transport document. None rests on the declarant's identity, history or sector: the same file lodged by any company whatsoever would produce the same report.

The three discrepancies in the batch

Discrepancy	What the declaration says	What the document says	What is handed over
Missing invoice	Three supporting documents announced	Two documents uploaded	Request for a supporting document, drafted

Currency mismatch	One currency on the declaration	Invoice denominated in another currency, amounts not derivable from one another	The two lines side by side, and the request for explanation drafted
Certificate of origin not filed	Procedure applied for assumes it	No certificate in the file	Letter drafted, naming the document expected

Each letter comes out on the office's template, and two fields stay empty: the reference and the date. They are the only two entries that bind the service, and they take ten seconds to fill in.

The time this shifts, over the year's 150 batches

Step	Before	After	Who does it
Opening the 24 files and their documents	22 min	0	The agent
Document-by-document matching	74 min	0	The agent
Reading the discrepancies and deciding	included in the 96 min	19 min	The customs officer — unchanged, and deliberately so
Total per batch	96 min — the whole task	19 min — 20 %	—
Annual gain	—	192 hours	Across 3,600 checked declarations

> The reading time has not been cut, and it must not be. What disappears is opening the files and matching by hand; what remains is the only work where the service commits its responsibility.

What happens to the 21 complete files

Output	Content	Effect
Statement of what has been verified	Documents present, consistencies tested, rules applied	Processing does not redo the check
No approach to the company	—	A complete file must produce no letter
