Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. The measurement bears on files and on the service's deadlines, never on what an individual officer does. The 3,100 letters requesting a missing document are written and await the reading of five templates: the office reads, changes a word, and the head of office signs.

What the backlog of permit applications holds

State of the file	Number	Share	What it changes for assessment
Complete files, assessable as they stand	8,900	74 %	Can be pre-assessed as soon as their turn comes
Incomplete files	3,100	26 %	Take a place in the queue without being assessable

State of the file	Number	Share	What it changes for assessment
Total filed over 12 months	12,000	100 %	One file in four is waiting for a document, not for a case officer

The 3,100 incomplete files rest on five documents

Missing document	Files concerned	What requires it	Letter template
Proof of resources missing or incomplete	1,040	Service note of 12 January 2026, list of documents, line 7	Template A — written, to be approved
Proof of address older than six months	762	Service note of 12 January 2026, line 4	Template B — written, to be approved
Current-year enrolment certificate, student files	528	Service note of 12 January 2026, line 11	Template C — written, to be approved
Expired passport, or missing visa and entry-stamp pages	441	Service note of 12 January 2026, line 1	Template D — written, to be approved
Foreign civil status record not translated or not legalised	329	Service note of 12 January 2026, line 3	Template E — written, to be approved
Total	3,100	—	5 templates to read, not 3,100 letters

One hour of reading covers the 3,100 files. Each letter names the document, cites the line of the service note that requires it, carries a filing deadline and recalls the three ways to submit it — desk by appointment, online service, post. A document request that cites the line requiring it is a request an applicant does not challenge, and

The measured item: completeness check of a permit file

Item	Share of the file's time, before	After	In minutes	Annual volume	Time returned
Completeness check	60 %	10 %	15 min → 2 min 30	9,600 files	2,000 hours
Of which: presence and validity of the documents	—	—	7 min → 1 min	9,600	960 hours
Of which: admissibility conditions of the application	—	—	5 min → 1 min	9,600	640 hours
Of which: consistency of the documents with each other	—	—	3 min → 30 s	9,600	400 hours

The clocks that are running — 412 files under six weeks

State of the file	Number	Applicable period	What happens when the period ends
Incomplete, deadline expiring within six weeks	412	Four months, or 90 or 60 days depending on the permit — art. R. 432-2 of the CESEDA	Silence gives rise to an implied refusal — art. R. 432-1
Of which: files carrying a valid receipt	96	Unchanged	A receipt does not prevent the implied refusal — Conseil d'État opinion no. 499904 of 6 May 2025

State of the file	Number	Applicable period	What happens when the period ends
Of which: files where a single document is missing	361 of 412	Unchanged	One letter, one document, one file back on track
Incomplete, deadline expiring beyond six weeks	2,688	Same	Handled at 168 a week over sixteen weeks
Total incomplete	3,100	—	51 implied refusals arose from a forgotten file last year

Those 51 implied refusals are no officer's fault: they follow from sixteen case officers handling 12,000 files, writing 3,100 letters and answering 26,800 enquiries. That is exactly the load the agent absorbs without taking anything away from anyone — and counting deadlines is a calculation, not an appraisal: it runs every night across the 12,000 files, and it prints.
