Fictional document

Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The list is announced as "at least five", never as final. The form may ask for one more depending on what the resident declares later.

The eight documents announced by the website

#	Document	Always required?	Condition
1	Proof of identity	Yes	—
2	Proof of address	Yes	—
3	Tax assessment	Yes	—
4	Bank details	Yes	—
5	Family record book	Yes	—

#	Document	Always required?	Condition
6	Tenancy agreement or rent receipt	No	Tenant
7	Latest accounts	No	Self-employed
8	Court order on residence	No	Shared custody

The four questions asked, and the list obtained

Question	Answer	Document added
Are you a tenant or an owner?	Owner	—
Are you employed or self-employed?	Employed	—
Is a shared custody arrangement in place?	No	—
Is the child already registered elsewhere?	No	—

> Five documents instead of eight, in four questions. None of the three conditional documents concerns them — but the list is given as "at least five", because the form may still ask for one more depending on what they declare.

The six procedures in the same state

Procedure	Documents announced	Documents actually required, by case
Housing support	8	5 to 8
School registration	6	4 to 6
Activities allowance	7	4 to 7
Parking permit	5	3 to 5
Hall hire	4	2 to 4

Procedure	Documents announced	Documents actually required, by case
Façade renovation grant	9	6 to 9

The exhaustive list is not wrong: it is complete. Choosing between "complete" and "tailored to the case" is an editorial choice for published information, with risks both ways, and it belongs to the authority.
