Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. This mandate is not an exception to « you approve every message sent »: it is that approval, given once in writing for a named family.

The three mandated families, measured over 90 days

Family	Volume over 90 days	Current median delay	Delay under mandate
Acknowledgement with a return date	187	28 h	< 10 min
Forwarding an already approved document	149	36 h	< 10 min
Confirming a slot already free	76	22 h	< 10 min
Total mandated	412 of 806	31 h	< 10 min

What the mandate contains, line by line

Mandate clause	Value retained
Scope	The three families above, by name
Cap	25 messages a day — at the 26th, stop and a message to the director
Duration	3 months, renewal written, never tacit
Log	Timestamp, recipient, family, full text — readable at any time
Periodic extract	Included in Monday's briefing
Automatic exit	An amount, a contractual date or a person's name sends the message back to drafts
Withdrawal	One word — « stop mandate » — immediate effect, nothing lost

What stays under signature, and what it really costs

Category kept under signature	Volume over 90 days	Per working day
Price, discount, commercial term	61	1
Contractual deadline or date commitment	118	2
Decision touching a person	44	< 1
First exchange with an unknown correspondent	171	3
Total	394	Fewer than 5 a working day

> A mandate is only useful if it is narrow. Widened to « anything routine », it becomes unverifiable: hence the named scope and the automatic exit.
