Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. This figure is published by the agent itself: a service is better off learning it from its tool than from an exasperated adviser.

What was set aside, and why

Quarter	Proposals	Set aside	Rate	Measured cause
First	1,890	510	27 %	412 on vacancies requiring a certificate or licence not recorded in the file; 98 on situations the file could not know
Second	1,940	174	9 %	Mainly situations belonging to the interview, not to the record

What was put in place

Measure	Volume	Effect
Extraction of certificates, licences and qualifications from filed documents	2,140 found across 9,400 files	Proposals stop being made blind
Vacancy requiring a certificate absent from the file	—	No longer proposed: it goes to the adviser as a question to ask
Certificates expiring within 6 months	180	Flagged to the adviser three months ahead — an expired certificate costs a hire

What is proposed next

Measure	Cost to the adviser	Expected effect
Three clickable reasons for setting aside, no free-text box	Three seconds, once per proposal	61 % of the quarter's gaps would have been corrected without being told twice

The 98 situations the file could not know remain the main cause of gaps, and that is normal: a recent family constraint or a sector refusal expressed verbally belong to the interview. That is precisely the part of the work that is the adviser's.

For the service to settle
