Fictional document

Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The agent flags its own contributions on the same footing as the rest — on this subject, nobody else would see them.

Resource loaded	Domain called	Origin	What is sent
Font	Third-party server	Agent's proposal	IP, current page
Icon set	Third-party server	Agent's proposal	IP, current page
Audience measurement	Third-party server	Added by a developer	IP, whole journey

> Every visitor sends their IP address and current page to three companies with no connection to the business. None of it is visible on screen.

Why this happens with nobody deciding it

Step	What happens
Official documentation gives an example	It points at a third-party server
The example works immediately	No reason to look further
The local alternative	Three more lines, which nobody writes

What the agent now does

Action	Done?
Write code calling an external domain	No
Supply the local version	Yes
Say what it costs	Yes — a few KB to host, an update to do yourself
Remove the three existing ones	No — the replacement is supplied, ready

> Request a demo with your own documents
