Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. The figure that does not flatter the agent is published by the agent: two alerts in three were pointless in the first twelve weeks. A pointless alert makes the others invisible — which is why it is corrected, and fast.

The two periods

Period	Alerts produced	Useful	Share useful
First 12 weeks	3,200	1,100	34 %
Following 12 weeks, tightened rule	1,240	1,180	95 %

The cause, measured

Origin of the 2,100 pointless alerts	Volume
Files already decided	1,380
Files whose handling was suspended pending an external element	720

An alert now fires only if three conditions are met: the file is open, no decision is recorded, and the stage due on that date has not been reached. The 60 remaining pointless alerts are suspended files whose suspension had not been recorded: they are flagged separately, because they are the ones that go back into overrun.

What each alert carries

Element	Why it is there
The file and the missing stage	The alert reads in ten seconds
The deadline and the days remaining	Priority is visible without being calculated
The document already drafted that unblocks the stage	Letter opening the adversarial stage, document request, or draft decision if the file is complete

The time this shifts

Item	Before	With the agent	Over the year
Reviewing the caseload's deadlines	100 % of the task — 2 hours a week per caseworker	20 % — 24 minutes	1,728 hours across 24 caseworkers and 45 weeks

The Monday record carries the only three figures useful to the head of service: files due within fifteen days, adversarial stages not opened, files suspended for more than thirty days. Reinforcements are arranged on Monday morning, not noted at quarter end.
