Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. A discrepancy is never a presumption against anyone: it is a question to be asked, and the letter asking it is already written.

The two versions, over the same twelve months

Version	Flags	Confirmed after review	Share confirmed
First — every discrepancy between two documents	1,460	254	17 %
Tightened — three discrepancies only	402	241	60 %

The cause, measured

1,010 of the 1,460 flags concerned a one-day difference between the reported date of the accident and the date of the certificate. An accident happening at the end of the day where the employee sees a doctor the next morning is no anomaly — and flagging it a thousand times a year discredits the four hundred that matter.

The three discrepancies retained

Discrepancy	Why it changes the handling
Difference in circumstances between the report and the insured person's account	It is the heart of the classification
Gap of more than 48 hours between the reported accident and the first medical record	It calls for an explanation, often a simple one
Leave period not matching the period on the wage certificate	It changes the calculation of daily allowances

What it changes on both sides

For	Effect
The caseworkers	1,058 fewer files to review a year
Employers and insured people	1,058 fewer requests for explanation over a one-day difference
Control	241 of the 254 discrepancies still caught; the 13 remaining surface in the monthly sample check

What each flag carries

Element	Why it is there
The two documents side by side	The review starts on facts

Element	Why it is there
The exact line where they diverge	No more cross-reading of two whole documents
The three most frequent explanations in your files	In two thirds of cases the explanation is the right one: the review takes three minutes

> A rule that is not measured drifts in silence. This one is handed over each quarter with its record — flags produced, share confirmed, discrepancies caught by the sample — and it takes effect only through the service's signature.
