Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. These are not careless employers: these are five fields the portal does not explain. The check happens before sending, while the employer is still in front of the screen.

The five fields

Field	What is most often missing	What the guidance brings
Exact time of the accident	A time range instead of an hour	A correct example and an insufficient one side by side
Exact place	The establishment instead of the site	The question put differently
Identity and role of the witness	A name with no role	The two fields separated

Field	What is most often missing	What the guidance brings
Description of the circumstances	Too brief to be usable	Three short questions replace the free-text box
Reference period of the wage certificate	Absent	Calculated and proposed, for confirmation

What that gives, over the trial quarter

Measure	Before	With the guidance
Incomplete reports	3,000 out of 9,400	600
Hours of back and forth avoided	—	1,000 hours — 25 minutes per report avoided
Delay before the first complete document	19 days	2 days

A report complete on first sending is handling that starts on the day of the accident and not three weeks later. The deadline, meanwhile, was already running.

Employers with fewer than ten employees

Fact	Measure
Reports filed a year	2,100
Share of incomplete files they account for	44 %
Telephone support — trial	141 reports supported, 138 complete first time

> The employer's credentials are never entrusted to the agent and do not have to be: the screen is filled in with them, they read it back, and it is their validation that makes the report.
