Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. This mandate is not a blank cheque: it is bounded to fourteen named subjects, it excludes everything that touches a decision on entitlements, it is reviewed at three months and it stops with one word.

What the mandate authorises

| Scope                          | Regime                                                 | Annual volume concerned        |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| The 14 subjects listed by name | Direct answer, at any hour                             | 61,400 of the 88,000 questions |
| Any other question             | Draft answer handed to an officer, written and sourced | 26,600                         |

| Excluded subject               | What the agent does instead                                                       | Time observed in the trial quarter    |
|--------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Opening an entitlement  | Answer written, documents alongside, handed to the caseworker who sends it | Within 3 hours, against 6 days |
| Refusal or suspension          | Same                                                                              | Within 3 hours                        |

| Revision of an entitlement     | Same                                                                              | Within 3 hours                        |

These answers go out from a public official, which makes them reasoned and open to challenge. General information does not carry that weight — and that is precisely why it is never confused with a decision.
