Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. An entry taken as it stood and an entry amended by the officer must be distinguishable ten years later. Without that distinction, nobody can say whether the registry checked or approved without looking — and that is precisely the question that will be asked.

What the log keeps for every entry

Item	Content	Why
Officer	By name	Chain of the register
Date and time	Time-stamp	Order of events
Source document	Number in the schedule	Going back to the original
The AI agent's proposal	Kept as it was submitted	—
Action taken	Taken as it stood · amended · set aside	Proving the checking happened

The quarter's figures

Measure	Value	Reading
Entries prepared	4,190	—
Entries made by a named officer	4,190	100 %
Entries without an author	0	Condition of the register's validity
Entries amended before being made	312 — i.e. 7.4 %	Good news: the checking happens
Entries set aside	38	Proposal not retained by the registry officer

> A modification rate of zero would mean the registry had stopped reading. It is the one figure in this document that should cause concern if it fell too far — and that is why it is published.

What is not measured

Item	Status	Reason
Who made which entry	Kept	Traceability requirement
Individual statistics per officer	None produced	A per-officer counter would become a target, the target would speed up sign-offs, and the control the log guarantees would disappear
Were the establishment to decide otherwise	Possible, on three conditions	Proportionality to the aim, prior information of staff, consultation of representative bodies before implementation

What is proposed for the compliance file
