Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. No test is disabled. A red test is information; disabled, it becomes a silence that nothing switches back on.

Test	Failures of 30	Reproducible?	Last commit on covered code	Average duration
ExportCsvTest::testLargeVolume	5	No — intermittent	22/07/2026	28 s
PaymentWebhookTest::testReplay	4	No — intermittent	14/06/2026	11 s
SessionTest::testExpiry	2	No — intermittent	03/05/2026	31 s
InvoiceTest::testRounding	6	Yes	01/08/2026	0.4 s
CustomerTest::testDuplicate	5	Yes	28/07/2026	0.3 s
12 other tests	8	Yes	—	—

The eleven intermittent failures involve three tests, always the same ones. Two of them depend on a timeout — 28 and 31 seconds average duration: they fail when the CI machine is loaded, not when the code is wrong.

Why this is the real subject

Three tests failing at random cast doubt on the other 340. The reflex that follows is not to fix them, it is to rerun the pipeline — then to override when it fails twice. The day a real defect gets through, it gets through that door.

What would be sent, on your approval

Trigger	Content	Recipient	Chase
Test failure	Isolated test + reproducible / intermittent + last relevant commit	Commit author	24 h
Month end	Flaky-test report	Technical lead	—

The monthly report is by test, never by author. A flaky test is a team debt: it was often written correctly, and it is the execution environment around it that changed.

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable
