Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. Indexing works on the CONTENT of the files: a refusal reasoned on a precise point sets the service's position for every similar file, and it is the hardest document to find.

What comes up when an officer opens a plot

Element	Content	What it is for
Permissions on the plot and adjoining plots	Since 2018, object, date, outcome	The context an officer cannot guess
Refusals and their full reasoning	212 refusals over 8 years	The service's position, in writing
Comparable files across the 31 municipalities	Same zone, same nature of works	34 comparables on an excess of ground coverage

Element	Content	What it is for
The service's legal challenges	14 in 8 years	The ground retained by the court in each

The most profitable lesson in the archives

Finding	Value	What was drawn from it
Challenges turning on insufficient reasoning	9 out of 14	Never on the substance of the judgement
Reasoning template written	6 points, one page	Drawn from the 9 censured statements of reasons
Refusals run through the template	212	178 already met it, 34 did not — exactly the profile of the files that were challenged

Equal treatment, made verifiable

Point	What the agent does	What stays with the service
Same rulebook, two municipalities	The same reading applies, line by line	—
Divergences of judgement between officers	4 found across 34 comparable files	Both positions and the number of files are handed over as they are — the service settles its own

What the search used to cost

Measure	Before	With the agent
Finding a precedent	20 minutes	40 seconds

Measure	Before	With the agent
Search time over the quarter	—	84 officer hours no longer spent searching

An officer deciding on the service's 34 precedents decides better than an officer deciding on memory — and their decision is defended with the 34 files in support.

For the service to settle
