Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The second flag has nine residents hunting for a document that does not exist. It is the only one of the four that creates impossible work, and that is why it chases at 48 hours.

#	Flag	What triggered it	What it produces	Recipient	Chase
2	Document requested no longer exists	Schedule amended 2024, letter not updated	9 residents hunting the unobtainable	Schedule owner	48 h
1	18 files with no chaser	No second request sent	18 residents believe their file is moving	Assessing department	7 d
3	6 illegible documents accepted	Cropped scans, blurred photos	3 weeks lost per file	Officer concerned, alone	7 d

#	Flag	What triggered it	What it produces	Recipient	Chase
4	Proof of address in 3 files	Same document, 3 names	To be checked	Head of department, alone	7 d

> Flags 3 and 4 go to one person only. The first questions an assessment decision, the second could implicate three families: circulating them more widely would turn a safety net into an instrument.

Flag 1 — how long the 18 files have waited

Length of wait	Files	Initial request sent?	Chaser sent?
30 to 45 days	7	Yes	No
46 to 60 days	6	Yes	No
61 to 71 days	5	Yes	No

All eighteen received a first request. None received a second: chasing is a manual act, and nobody holds the list of those who did not reply.

Proposed chases

Flag	Without action	Then
2	Reminder at 48 h	Head of department at 96 h
1, 3, 4	Reminder at 7 days	Head of department at 14 days
All	—	Monthly summary, by file and by document
