Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The agent writes the exact line to remove on each of the 41 pages: the release belongs to whoever carries that responsibility, because an indexing change in the wrong place would de-index the rest.

Element	Value
Redesign date	12/05/2026
Origin of the setting	Test environment
Pages affected	41
Share of the site	9%
Share of prior traffic	28%
Time to leave results	3 weeks
Time elapsed	12 weeks

> The 41 pages are 9% of the site and 28% of the traffic: they are the best pages. That is what makes the loss large and the page count reassuring — two opposite readings of the same fact.

Why the cause was hard to see

Element	What was observed	What was concluded
Traffic chart	Gradual fall over 12 weeks	Seasonality
Number of pages	41 of 470	"Few pages"
Correlation with the redesign	Split across two tools	**—

The redesign and the traffic chart live in two different tools. It is the most frequent reason a visible cause stays invisible.

What is provided

Element	Provided?
The 41 pages	Yes
The exact line to remove	Yes
Each page's traffic before the redesign	Yes
An honest recovery estimate	Yes
A promised timescale	No — the weekly curve, page by page, instead
A promised level	No — the positions recovered and the others, named

> The pages do not return to their previous positions. It takes several weeks, some will not recover their place, and saying so now avoids presenting a partial
