Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. No clinical data appears in this document, and none is accessible to the agent: only the diary, the waiting list and administrative documents are open to it.

#	Flag	What triggered it	Useful window	Recipient	Chase
1	45-min slot freed on Thursday	Cancellation + 4 patients waiting	Half a day	Reception	4 h
2	11 incomplete files	9 times the same document	Before next week	Reception, grouped	7 d
3	3 unattached letters	Name with no date of birth	—	Reception	7 d
4	8 a.m. no-shows: 4 → 9%	Stable on other slots	—	Clinician	7 d

> The first is the only one at four hours. A freed slot no longer fills after half a day: it is not a medical emergency, it is a diary window closing.

Five acts kept by the practice — the 45-minute slot, meanwhile, is re-offered within four hours

The act, kept by the practice	Why it is theirs
Rank patients by priority	A priority between patients is a medical act
Give advice, however obvious	A generic answer is wrong one time in ten
Triage an emergency	Any life-threatening wording stops the exchange
Attach a letter on resemblance	Would put health data in another person's record
Access clinical content	Access is not opened — an installation choice
