Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. A resident who works the same hours as the town hall had, for a two-minute question, only the choice of taking half a day off or giving up. These 214 calls used to ring out into the void; they are now answered.

The 214 calls, band by band

The 171 answers given on the spot concerned three items already published — a department's hours and address, the documents for a common procedure, the collection day — and each cited its source to the caller: “under the order of 4 July”.

The 47 calls whose answer was not servable as it stood, counted one by one

Family	Calls	What was done with them
Individual case in progress	23	Transferred to the front-office officer with the stated subject and what had already been said — nothing to repeat; all 23 handled the same day
Item absent from the knowledge base	12	Written up, seven lines each with their source; the three most asked cover 8 of the 12 calls. Review and go-live stay with the authority
People kept at a distance by written or administrative language	12	Transferred to a front-office officer, and the need handed over costed: all twelve turned on the same three items
Total	47	Of the month's 1,340 calls, none lost — 1,293 answered in the exchange or in one transfer

What this switchboard carries, and what belongs to another agent

Need	Where it is handled
Picking up and answering from what the authority has published, at any hour	The core of this switchboard
Booking an appointment in the right department's diary, with the documents to bring	The core of this switchboard

Need	Where it is handled
Transferring to an officer with the subject and the context already noted	The core of this switchboard
Plain-language version, easy-read transcription, translation or spoken version of an item	The Accessibility and inclusion agent, which sets its languages, its formats and its human approval — outside the core of the present offer

The figure on which opening the accessibility work is decided is in this document, and it is measured: 12 calls over the month, all turning on the same three items. That is not scatter, it is an audience.
