Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. Every answer carries the internal sheet that grounds it and its update date. A member of staff who sees where the instruction comes from applies it; an instruction without an origin gets re-argued on the phone.

What the agent hands the caller

Element	Delay	Content
Correlation of reports	immediate	3 reports on the same application since 8.05 a.m., all on workstations updated overnight
Diagnosis	immediate	Sign-on session not renewed after the update — cause number 2 of the twelve
Step-by-step from the internal sheet	40 seconds	Full sign-out, cache cleared, sign back in — screen by screen, labels of the current portal

Element	Delay	Content
Origin of the answer	immediate	Sheet number and update date, under the answer

What the agent does without being asked

Act	Reach	Measured effect
Same answer pushed to the 3 other reporters	3 people	Three calls avoided
Notice to the department	34 staff of the civil status department	Prepared in draft, goes out with one click
History of grouped incidents	9 incidents last year	17 calls on average for the same problem — the notice sent within the hour would have spared 14

The time this moves

Item	Before	With the agent	Over the year
Guided resolution of a common incident	30 % of the ticket's time — 6 minutes	10 % — 2 minutes	177 hours across 2,650 tickets

These hours go back to projects and to information system security — the only place where a public IT department recovers capacity without recruiting, and it is time given back to the service, not a post saved.

For the authority to settle
