Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. A user following a wrong procedure loses their time and then their trust.

Outcome	Drafts
Published after review	18
Rejected	4
Of which because the feature was about to change	2

What the agent checks before writing

Check	Done how?
That the feature exists	By walking through it
That it behaves as described	By walking through it
By reading the code	No — a page describes what the user sees

What is marked at the head of every draft

The product version it was checked against.

> It is exactly the information the seven pages describing removed features lacked. Without it, a page never says of itself that it has become wrong.

The vocabulary used

Source of the words	Used?
The question as users actually ask it	Yes
Internal vocabulary	No

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
