Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. Criticality is not the value of the machine: it is what its unavailability costs in production, given the line's workload and the customer contract being served. It therefore changes when the workload plan changes, not once and for all.

The 96 flags of the half-year

Level	Volume	What it calls for	What it cost in production
Red — line committed to a penalty contract	8	Shutdown to plan within 15 days	0 h — all 8 planned, none escalated
Amber	17	To handle at the next weekly shutdown	0 h — Saturday is already down
Green	49	To watch, one page at Monday's meeting	0 h
Nothing behind them	22	Check, then close	9 h of checking lost

What the sorting changed for technicians

Indicator	Previous year	Half-year observed
Emergency call-outs	14 a year	3 over the half-year
Of which at night or at the weekend	9	1
Jobs placed in the weekly shutdown	Marginal	17
Unplanned stoppages on a red flag	—	0 out of 8

What this table does not measure but the team knows: the work has not vanished, it has moved from 3 a.m. on Sunday to 9 a.m. on Saturday. It is the gain no dashboard records and the one the eight shift technicians mention first.

The next step proposed: review each line's criticality at the monthly workload review, with the production manager. A line that comes under a penalty contract changes criticality on the day of signature, not six months later.

Date of the next criticality review with production: _____

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
