Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The agent never writes into a system it cannot restore.

#	Flag	On what	Handling
1	41 half-written operations	62,000 writes	First write undone, then flagged
2	Price divergent on 3% of references	CRM and ERP	Field synchronisation blocked
3	1,400 writes for 12 changes	Synchronisation log	Loop cut immediately
4	Request to synchronise free-text fields	—	Left in their system of origin

What is guaranteed on every write, and what you gain

What is guaranteed	What you gain
Creating a record stays a decision taken on your side	A creation triggers everything downstream — invoicing, stock, chasing: no synchronisation manufactures a file that does not exist
What is in the way is flagged, never deleted	Your 62,000 writes stay auditable, and the 41 half-written operations get recovered instead of vanishing
Accounting entries and issued documents stay as they went out	What you sent a customer or the tax office stays what they received: it is the first thing an audit asks for
Two contradictory values come back together, with their origin and their date	The 3% of references with divergent prices are settled by whoever owns the price: it is not a technical operation, and a bad call gets invoiced to the customer
Free-text fields stay where they were written	They hold what nobody planned for — carrying them would spread notes written for one pair of eyes across the ERP

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
