Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The agent never writes into a system it cannot restore.

| Creating a record stays a decision taken on your side                         | A creation triggers everything downstream — invoicing, stock, chasing: no synchronisation manufactures a file that does not exist                               |
| What is in the way is flagged, never deleted                                  | Your 62,000 writes stay auditable, and the 41 half-written operations get recovered instead of vanishing                                                        |
| Accounting entries and issued documents stay as they went out                 | What you sent a customer or the tax office stays what they received: it is the first thing an audit asks for                                                    |
| Two contradictory values come back together, with their origin and their date | The 3% of references with divergent prices are settled by whoever owns the price: it is not a technical operation, and a bad call gets invoiced to the customer |
| Free-text fields stay where they were written                                 | They hold what nobody planned for — carrying them would spread notes written for one pair of eyes across the ERP                                                |

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
