Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The first flag goes out before the draft is sent: a contradiction caught before signature costs five minutes, the same one caught afterwards costs another letter.

#	Flag	What triggered it	Moment	Recipient	Chase
1	Draft contradicting a January reply	Same subject, same correspondent	Before sending	Drafter of the draft	24 h
2	3 letters from representatives, 1 project	3 designations of one project	Before all 3 are sent	The 3 departments	7 d
3	Question due in 9 days, no drafter	Question log	Now	Head of service	7 d
4	4 replies citing an amended scheme	May act	After sending	One list, once	—

> The fourth generates no individual reminder. All four replies were correct at their date: treating them as errors to correct would teach drafters to stop stating anything precise.

Flag 1 — the two sentences

Element	January	Today's draft
Date	18/01/2026	07/08/2026
Correspondent	The same	The same
Subject	Eligibility threshold	Eligibility threshold
Figure stated	fewer than 10 employees	fewer than 20 employees
Act changing the threshold in between	None found	—

Where the act was searched for

Source consulted	Period	Result
Register of acts	01/2026 to 08/2026	Nothing
Staff notices	01/2026 to 08/2026	Nothing
Minutes of sittings	01/2026 to 08/2026	Nothing
Signed replies on the same subject	01/2026 to 08/2026	None other

Saying where one looked is better than concluding. If the threshold moved by an act invisible to the agent, today's reply is right — and January's was right too, at its date.
