Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. This is not a statutory list: it is built from what the authority itself attaches, and that is what makes it reliable.

Document	Present in	Of 38 filings	Present today?
Explanatory report	38	100%	Yes
Extract from the register of resolutions	38	100%	Yes
Attendance sheet	37	97%	Yes
Financial annex	37	97%	No
Summary explanatory note	36	95%	Yes
Opinion of the relevant committee	36	95%	Yes
Notice of meeting and agenda	36	95%	Yes

> What triggers the search for the annex is not its absence from the list: it is that the report refers to it twice. A document mentioned in a transmitted paper and absent from the filing will be looked for by whoever reads it.

The two references in the report

Page	Passage
3	"the detail is set out in the financial annex"
7	"in accordance with the financial annex attached"

What the agent finds, and what is left to your judgement

Assertion	Made?	Why
The annex is legally required	No	Not the agent's to say
It accompanies 37 of your 38 comparable filings	Yes	A finding
The report refers to it twice	Yes	A finding

If the annex is not required, the filing will go without it and that will be fine. The flag will have cost thirty seconds of reading; the round trip it avoids, if it avoids one, costs two to three weeks.
