Fictional document

Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. When a practice covers 61% of cases it describes the arrangement, not the people — no manager is named.

Situation	Records	Share
Objectives recorded during the year	46	39%
Objectives dated the day of the meeting	72	61%
Total	118	100%

The manager writes the objectives at the moment of assessing them, that is, already knowing the outcome. It is not a manoeuvre: the form asks for a review of something nothing has produced.

What the section asks for, and what exists

Form section	What it assumes	What exists in 61% of cases
"Objectives for the year past"	Objectives set at the start of the year	Nothing before the meeting

What is proposed to whoever designs the form

Proposal	Effect
Show recorded objectives, with their date	The date becomes visible
Leave the section empty if there are none	An empty section is information

A section filled in on the day is not information: it is a form satisfying itself.

The employee then stops being assessed on objectives they discover at the same time as their success in meeting them.
