> Fictional document — demonstration example
> This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

> Fictional document, produced for demonstration. An amount announced by the agent and differing from the payslip creates a dispute where there was none.

The standard reply, as it stands

"I do not compute pay. Your payslip is produced by payroll and will be available on [date]. If you want a specific item checked before then, [contact] can do it."

What the payslip incorporates and the agent does not have

Element	Seen by the agent?
Base salary	Yes
Adjustment	No
Attachment of earnings	No

Element	Seen by the agent?
Back payment	No
Rate change	No
Absence entered late	No

> An amount computed without those five elements would be right most of the time. That is precisely what makes it dangerous: nobody distrusts a figure that has been right for the previous eleven months.

What the agent can say without risk

An employee who knows when they will know does not ask again. It is the only thing this reply provides, and it is enough to handle three hundred and eighteen enquiries.
