Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. No individual pay element appears in this document, and the fourth flag is given as a count, without naming the seven employees.

#	Flag	What triggered it	Scope	Recipient	Chase
1	January 2024 mileage rate	412 reimbursements this year	34 employees, 3 years	Payroll + finance	7 d
2	14 negative balances	3 with no explanation	3 case files	Payroll officer, one at a time	7 d
3	Payment made to 22 of 31 eligible	Agreement art. 11	9 employees	HR lead, never the manager	7 d

#	Flag	What triggered it	Scope	Recipient	Chase
4	7 employees viewing > 10 times/month	Average 1.4	The screen	Whoever designs the screen	7 d

> The fourth flag does not go to the seven employees' managers. Knowing that seven people check ten times a month is information about the screen; knowing which seven is information about them.

What lands on your desk ready

What you receive, ready to sign	What you gain
The control calculation, reconciled with the payslip line by line	You see the gap before the employee does; the binding amount stays the one payroll signs, and the dispute never happens
The payslip date and the transfer date, taken from your payroll calendar	318 questions about a future amount this quarter, 318 answers, not one complaint
The 14 wrong balances corrected beside the old value, each with its supporting document	Your officer approves and the correction applies: nothing surfaces at the final settlement any more
The letter to the 9 employees affected by the bonus gap, drafted one by one	It goes out the day you sign it: the company keeps the decision and no longer has the writing to do
The updated rate, already re-run over this year's 412 reimbursements	You measure the reach before deciding, and you choose the day the correction touches live reimbursements
