Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. Both tables are available. You can even have both at once.

What opens with one line of configuration

Capability	Default state	What comes with it
Usage per person and per department	Closed	Information notice (art. L1222-4) and works council file
Call detail	Closed	Proportionate scope, justified in writing
Adoption ranking by department	Closed	Both, plus the observation below

The French DPA restates that an employer has the power to frame and monitor staff activity. It is the conditions that are regulated, not the principle — and they are > prepared.

The observation to know before opening the ranking

Indicator, in organisations that opened the ranking	Trend
Call volume to agents	Rising
Number of tasks actually completed	Flat

A department compared on its adoption runs agents to appear in the table.

The table answering the same question without that effect

Measure	What it says	Decision it enabled
Tasks completed per agent	What actually serves	**—
Time given back per department	Where the tool pays	**—
Agents nobody uses	What can be stopped	3 agents stopped in a month

Marc Delaunay, who chairs the platform committee, chose that second table.

For the company to settle
