Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for the demonstration. A result with no version is not returned as a result: it is returned as an alert. That is this platform's central rule, and it can be checked line by line.

The six pieces of information carried by every result line

Information	Why it is there
The document	Identified by its content, not by its file name
The source	The reader knows where the document actually lives
The version and its effective date	The one piece of information that makes a document usable
The name of whatever superseded it	A superseded document served without that mention is an incident in the making
The access reason	The role through which the reader is entitled to it

Information	Why it is there
Copies elsewhere	Flags the 29% of the base present in two sources

What a maintenance technician sees on the sealing procedure

Result	Status	Served?
Procedure 4.2	In force since 03/02/2026	Yes — served first
Procedure 4.1	Superseded on 03/02/2026 by 4.2	Yes, flagged as earlier
Annotated draft of 11/01/2026	Never published to the register	Never served as a reference
260 documents under a customer confidentiality clause	Outside the scope of his role	No — but their existence and the person to ask are announced

Why announce what is not open: silence would leave the reader with the impression of an incomplete base, and he would look elsewhere — often in a superseded copy sitting in a collaboration space. A named door gives a person to talk to; an invisible door produces a workaround.

The gain measured across the 380 weekly users

Task	Today	With the platform	In hours
Source-by-source search	65%	7%	3,640 h → 392 h a year

> Next gain identified: the 18,000 scanned workshop drawings from 1998 to 2006, currently outside the base, asked for 40 times a month by maintenance and hunted by hand through scanned boxes with no index.
