Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. The backlog clears in three hours, once. This is not a recurring load: it is a catch-up, and it is quantified so the department knows what it is taking on.

Situation	Cases	Estimated time	What is needed
Document already in the file	74	2 min each	Opening it
Document absent	22	Call or letter	An approach
Total	96	~3 h + 22 approaches	—

The 74 — which document settles it

Document available	Cases	What it establishes
Identity document	41	First name, full date of birth
Tax notice	19	Household composition

Document available	Cases	What it establishes
Deed or contract	14	Capacity of the signatory

The 22 — why the document is missing

Cause	Cases	Approach
Old file, document never scanned	11	Archive search
Document never requested	7	Letter to the resident
Scheme requiring no document	4	Call, or keep both records

> The last row deserves reading. In four cases no document exists and none needs to: keeping two distinct records is then the right answer, not a failure of the matching.

A tool presenting those four as unresolved duplicates would push towards merging for want of anything better. They are presented for what they are: two records that no document allows to be matched, and which therefore remain two records.

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
