Fictional document — demonstration example

This document is produced by the Blue Lemon Agent website to illustrate what an AI agent hands to its users. The companies, matters, amounts and people in it are invented. It has no legal, accounting or commercial value.

Fictional document, produced for demonstration. A broken agent announces itself; a useless agent never does and goes on consuming.

Agent	Share of outputs consumed
Agent 1	96%
Agent 2	91%
Agent 3	84%
Agent 4	77%
Agent 5	62%
Agent 6	0% for 7 weeks

What was checked for agent 6

Output	Became what?

Opened by somebody	Never
Input to another agent	Never
Present in a handled case	Never
Produced correctly	Always

> Supervision does not conclude that it should be stopped: its output may be read elsewhere, or have been commissioned for a deadline that has not arrived.

The finding goes to whoever asked for that agent, not to the technical team: the question is not "does it work?" but "what is it for?".

> Request a demo with your own documents
> This document is a fictitious example. To see the agent work on your own documents, request a demo from its page.

Scope of this document: the service operated by Blue Lemon Agent. For an agent deployed at your premises, the applicable location is that of the architecture set out in the quotation and verified before commissioning; local execution is announced only for the configuration explicitly described and accepted in the quotation; the applicable isolation depends on the deployment mode set out in the quotation, no dedicated isolation being presumed; the encryption mechanisms in transit and at rest, their components and key management are those documented for the architecture chosen; roles and permissions are configured and accepted for the identities and systems actually connected; the events logged, their content, their retention period and who may access them are defined for the deployment chosen.
